Today's Healing Menu

Sick-day sips & rests, served like a real restaurant — soup refills are free.
Print on cardstock and hand it over with your fanciest voice.

~ Adventure Water
Cold or room-temp, in a silly cup, sipped like a night knight.

☐ ordered

~ Crunchy Ice Chips
For hot foreheads and scratchy throats. Commas obligatory. Chew gently.

☐ ordered

~ Juice, Watered Down
Half juice, half water. Sweeter than water, kinder to a wobbly tummy.

☐ ordered

~ Warm Broth in a Mug
Chicken, veggie, or whatever the pantry has. Holding the warm mug counts as snuggling.

☐ ordered

~ Ginger or Fizzy-helper Drink
Flat-ish soda or ginger tea, small sips, for churning tummies.

☐ ordered

~ Popsicle or Freezie Pop
Technically a drink. Official healing tool for sore throats.

☐ ordered

~ Blanket Fort Rest
Pillows, couch cushions, fairy lights if the household stocks them.

☐ reserved

~ Cuddle & Story Rest
Grown-up reads aloud, kid stays horizontal. Stuffed animals welcome.

☐ reserved

~ Audiobook on Low
Eyes closed, ears open. Nobody has to talk above a whisper.

☐ reserved

~ Couch Nap & Quiet Show
Falling asleep mid-show is encouraged. The show will wait.

☐ reserved

Free Sick-Day Kit — education and organizing only. Not medical advice: offer small, frequent sips; follow your doctor's guidance for your child's care.