No-Cook Dinner Rescue Deck

Nine dinners for a day of couch nursing and zero stove gas left in the tank.
Print, cut on the dashed lines, stash cards in a drawer for an emergency-dinner moment.
(cut on the dashed lines)

CARD 01

Snack-Board Dinner

Cheese, crackers, cut veggies, nuts, dried fruit. Whatever the fridge offers. A cutting board counts as a plate.

→ Zero cooking

CARD 02

Rotisserie Chicken + Bagged Salad

The store did the hard part. Shred the chicken, dump the salad in a bowl, dinner's done.

→ Store handles it

CARD 03

Deli Sandwich Bar

Bread, deli meat, cheese, mustard. Everybody builds their own and the kitchen stays untouched.

→ Assembly only

CARD 04

Hummus Plate

Hummus, pita or crackers, baby carrots, cucumber slices, cherry tomatoes. Protein and crunch in one.

→ Open and arrange

CARD 05

Cereal-for-Dinner Night

Cereal, milk, one sliced banana on top. Legally counts as dinner, especially on sick days.

→ Pour level only

CARD 06

Yogurt Parfait Bar

Yogurt cups, granola, berries or jam, honey drizzle. Layers in a cup make it feel like dessert.

→ Spoon work only

CARD 07

Tuna or Chicken Salad Wraps

Pouch tuna or canned chicken, mayo, salt, scoop onto tortillas with lettuce. Roll and go.

→ Tin opens easily

CARD 08

Picnic Abroad

Spread a blanket somewhere new: living room floor, back porch, hallway tent. Same food, new location, kids amazed.

→ Location hack

CARD 09

Breakfast-for-Dinner Rescue

Toast or bagels, cream cheese, fruit, cold milk. No stove guilt, everyone's favorite loophole.

→ Toaster only

Free Sick-Day Kit — education and organizing only. Not medical advice. Check allergies and label instructions, and keep cold food cold.